FIRST RACE WON BY YALE SECOND EIGHT

Race Was Beautifully Rowed From Start to Finish and Was Won By the Blue Oarsmen By About a Quarter of a Length

(Special to The Herald)
By Frank G. Menke.

New London, Conn., June 25.—The 49th annual regatta between the boat crews of Harvard and Yale opened today with a victory for the Yale oarsmen.

The first race, the second varsity eight, was won by the blue oarsmen by about one-quarter of a length. The race started at 10.15 a. m.

The race was beautifully rowed from start to finish over the two-mile course down stream, but in the last half mile the Yale oarsmen drew upon their reserve strength and passed ahead of the Harvard crew.

Both crews were rowing with every ounce of strength when the finish was reached. Two of the Yale oarsmen toppled over in their shell after they had won the race, but were quickly revived when they were sprinkled with water.

The official time was Yale 10.40, and Harvard 10.43. While waiting for the second race to start, the water had become rough and the freshman race was postponed until this afternoon.

Harvard ruled a 10 to 5 favorite in pretty well sheltered up with Yale today's early betting on the big eight oared varsity race that featured the 49th annual regatta of Yale and Harvard.

Plenty of Yale money was in sight, however, and there was the prospect that the betting would be at even money before the varsity crews lined up late in the afternoon for their annual battle.

This was the first time in seven years that Yale was conceded to have a real chance for victory; and the town was they are able to go the distance—and they surely are in shape to go it today.

It was later announced this morning that the varsity eight race would be rowed at 4.10 p. m., and that the freshman race would take place as soon thereafter as the weather would permit. It was decided to row the freshman race up-stream.

The wind which has blown up during the morning increased shortly before noon and was kicking up rough water. It was understood that if conditions did not improve, both afternoon races would be postponed until tomorrow.

MOVING PICTURES TO BE USED IN THAW TRIAL

State Will Endeavor to Prove That He Is Victim of In- curable Paranoia.

(Special to The Herald)

New York, June 25.—Moving pictures will be a star feature of the state's effort to prove that Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, is a victim of incurable paranoia, and as such should be returned to Mattewan.

Deputy Attorney General Cook said today that he would ask permission to exhibit to the jury films made of Thaw in the jail at Contrecoeur, Quebec, where he was first confined after his arrest by the Canadian authorities, after his escape from Mattewan. The movies were made in the Contrecoeur jail by Al Reid. Cook said he hoped to show by them that Thaw showed at that time symptoms of irrationality.

It was said today that Justice Hendrick would sign the order naming a commission to examine President Emeritus Elliot, as soon as the opposing lawyers agree on the interrogatory and the counter interrogatory.

The first witness of the day was Dr. Noel D. Gullit, a physician connected with an orphan asylum at Manchester, N. H., in testifying he said: "I saw Thaw four or five times a week. He impressed me as a rational man and I believe him sane."

Similar testimony was given by Walter Lang, a real estate dealer of the same city.

PRESIDENT GREETED WITH COLLEGE YELL

Students of the University of Toronto Give Him Warm Greeting at Holyoke.

(Special to The Herald)

On board President Wilson's train, Greenfield, Mass., June 25.—A rousing college yell was given President Wilson as he passed through Holyoke today on his way to the summer White House at Cornish, N. H. Fifty students of the University of Toronto en route to the Y. M. C. A. Conference at Northfield, Mass., cheered the President and gave a lusty evidence of their enthusiasm for him.

Scores of persons who shook hands with the President in various stations told him: "We are for peace." Mr. Wilson, and we are all with you." The President's train was about forty-five minutes late and the executive is not expected to reach Cornish until about two o'clock.

WILL MODIFY THE SUBMARINE WARFARE

To Meet the Demands of the United States Provided It Is Given Assur- ances That Merchant Ships Will Not Attack

(Special to The Herald)

Berlin, via wireless, June 25.—Germany will modify her submarine warfare to meet the demands of the United States provided it is given assurances that merchant ships will not attempt to sink the underwater craft which hails them.

It was learned today that this is one of the chief points in the preliminary draft of the reply to the second American note which is now being drawn up by Foreign Secretary von Jargow.

The assurances that the Lusitania was not carrying ammunition for the Allies are accepted by Germany as having been sent in good faith and it may recede from her position that the liner was in reality a cruiser, expressing its regret for the deplorable tragedy.

Only part of the preliminary draft has thus far been drawn up but it is now expected that work on the final text may soon be begun. Dr. Dernberg will be called into consultation by von Jargow before the final draft is started. Dr. Dernberg is expected here Saturday and will call at the Foreign Office on Monday.

KAISER'S TROOPS

(Special to The Herald)

Paris, June 25.—German troops are now using gas in an effort to gain the mastery over the French troops there. The official communication issued this afternoon stated that the Kaiser's troops gained temporary advantage in two attacks on the Calonne trench in which they used gas, but they were later driven back. The Germans gained the second line of trenches but were taken by a cross fire from the heavy French artillery.

GEORGE B. FRENCH CO.

CANADIAN BATTALION WIPED OUT

First Western Ontario Regiment Loses 500 Out of 700 Men in France.

Toronto, Ontario, June 24.—The First Western Ontario Battalion was all but annihilated in the action near La Bassée, in northern France on June 16 last, says a semi-official account received here today. Out of between 600 and 700 men the battalion lost in killed and wounded, nearly 500, including 20 officers.

Twelve of the officers were killed in this action according to the account, leaving only three officers of the battalion unaccounted for.

The first Western Ontario Battalion the account says was selected to act in cooperation with the British troops in attacking the German position. Three trenches were their object. They came from the rear having had rest preparatory to the onslaught, which took place in the evening. The Germans apparently had the idea that a surprise attack was to be attempted, and as events proved had made elaborate preparations for resistance.

The first enemy trench was only 40 yards from that occupied by the First Western Ontario Battalion. The mine had been laid and its explosion was the signal for a forward movement on the part of the Canadians. The mine itself killed many of the Germans.

A member of the battalion who took part in the subsequent charge declared that the battalion rushed forward under a terrific fire from machine guns and bursting high explosives.

"I shall never forget," he said, "looking around and seeing Colonel Archer of London, Ont., apparently standing on a parapet of a trench, leading his men by voice and gesture. The next instant the colonel fell and was carried to the rear, but did not live long."

"Conditions grew more terrible as the night progressed. The Germans brought up reinforcements from troops that were fighting the British, with whom we were linked. The cost to ourselves in taking the first trench was very great. We took the second trench and it proved a hot position. We then went to the third trench. I should think by this time considerably more than half our officers and men had been killed or wounded."

"The battalion went into that action from 600 to 700 strong. The killed and wounded numbered nearly 500, including 20 out of 23 officers, 12 of whom were killed."

HIS FIRST BAYONET CHARGE

Young British Soldier Tells of His Thrilling Experience at the Front.

Paris, June 25.—Lying in a hospital here a young British soldier who had been a London broker a few months ago today told the story of his first bayonet charge. It will be his last too, for he will never be well enough again to be sent back to the front.

"We had gone into the trenches around Ypres only a few days before," he said, "and my first experience of the realities of the war was to lie patiently suffering an awful inactivity while the artillery on both sides belched destruction on the men facing each other in the trenches."

"As dawn broke I felt an uncontrollable desire to climb out of the trenches into the open, but I knew it would be courted death as I saw the next moment. The man nearest me raised his head above the parapet, and in an instant was bagged by a sniper. He rolled over with a stifled murmur, and lay quite still with his face buried in the soft red earth. I turned him over and spoke to him, he was dead with a hole in his forehead."

"The day passed fairly quietly until dusk when we received the order that in an hour's time we were to storm one of the enemy's advanced positions. The next hour seemed a lifetime. The noise of the bombardment swelled louder and louder, but I hardly noticed it. The men around me showed their emotions in their faces. Some were excited and showed an almost exaggerated enthusiasm for the work in hand. The majority were strangely silent. I can honestly say I felt no acute fear, but I could not help remembering that in a short time our numbers would probably be reduced by half, and I was prepared for the worse."

"In five minutes the order would be given and the thought of what was coming made my blood boil. I too, became impatient to get out into that stretch of open ground which separated us from our goal. It was dark now and the enemy's searchlight began to sweep our positions. Two more minutes and we should leap from our trenches."

"The bombardment reached its height and with a wild, vicious, final roar which seemed to open the heavens it ceased. The moment had arrived. The order was given and scrambling over the parapet, we emerged into the shell-swept zone. The enemy's machine guns began to spit fire all through our ranks, but no one wavered. We had felt any fear it had now left us. Men fell on their hands, but with a yell we rushed forward with bare steel towards the raised ground."

"Our artillery had done its work well for we found the wire defences almost completely blown away. We reached the enemy's front trenches, and I raised my bayonet as a big Bavarian made to fire at me."

"Then something within me made me hesitate and a comrade laid the man out just in time. In the thick of the fight it had just dawned on me that I was about to take a human life for the first time and I had felt a momentary repugnance."

"The next instant however, one of our men next to me fell in a heap, and a bullet whizzed by my face. Then I knew what it was to see red. With a yell I bayoneted the German who had shot the man and had seen accounted for three more. The place was like a shambles. The German front line trenches were filled with a heap of torn and bloody corpses, and we were now attacking the rear trenches."

"Then suddenly I felt a pain in my shoulder, but I rushed on. I tried to raise my rifle, but found I could not, and the next moment I was hit simultaneously in the arm and jaw. The pain was terrible but as I lay on the ground I tried to shout for joy. I was infected with the fever of our success, for I knew that the position was won. Then I lost consciousness, and I woke up in a field hospital."

We had felt any fear it had now left us. Men fell on their hands, but with a yell we rushed forward with bare steel towards the raised ground."

"Our artillery had done its work well for we found the wire defences almost completely blown away. We reached the enemy's front trenches, and I raised my bayonet as a big Bavarian made to fire at me."

"Then something within me made me hesitate and a comrade laid the man out just in time. In the thick of the fight it had just dawned on me that I was about to take a human life for the first time and I had felt a momentary repugnance."

"The next instant however, one of our men next to me fell in a heap, and a bullet whizzed by my face. Then I knew what it was to see red. With a yell I bayoneted the German who had shot the man and had seen accounted for three more. The place was like a shambles. The German front line trenches were filled with a heap of torn and bloody corpses, and we were now attacking the rear trenches."

"Then suddenly I felt a pain in my shoulder, but I rushed on. I tried to raise my rifle, but found I could not, and the next moment I was hit simultaneously in the arm and jaw. The pain was terrible but as I lay on the ground I tried to shout for joy. I was infected with the fever of our success, for I knew that the position was won. Then I lost consciousness, and I woke up in a field hospital."

Y. M. C. A. STRENGTHEN LEAD

Defeated Knights of Columbus Last Evening by Four to One Score

By winning last evening from the Knights of Columbus by a four to one score the Y. M. C. A. strengthened their lead in the league, but they are still within striking distance of the P. A. C. team, and will tonight for the P. A. C. will again reverse the standing. The Knights were able to get but three scattered hits off Jordan, and but for a bad throw made by McPheters in the fifth, the Knights would have been shut out.

The Y. M. C. A. won its game in the first inning, getting three runs across on two hits, two errors and a base on balls. After that Horan tightened up and held the hits down until the fourth, when another run was sent in on errors and a double steal. Jordan got five strikeouts and gave but two bases on balls. He was steady and was working hard all the time. In the second, with one out and three on, he pulled out of the hole by fanning P. Timmons and Horan, when any kind of a hit meant a couple of runs.

The Game

1st Inning—McPheters hit the ball out along the third base line for two bases. Mulholland was out at first, P. Bailey to Wilkinson. Marden went out on a foul fly to J. Bailey. Butler hit one in front of the plate that J. Bailey threw wild to first, McPheters scoring. Thomas was passed. Gibson hit to Wilkinson, who made a fine stop, but he threw bad to Horan covering first, and Butler and Thomas scored. Craig fanned. Three runs.

J. Timmons fled out to McPheters. Wilkinson fled out to Butler. O'Brien was thrown out at first, Jordan to Gibson. No runs.

2d Inning—Shuttleworth walked. He was out stealing second, J. Bailey to P. Bailey. Jordan fanned. McPheters was thrown out at first, J. Timmons to Wilkinson. No runs.

Reardon was passed. J. Bailey singled to right, Reardon was out trying to make third, Thomas to Butler. P. Bailey drew a pass. T. Timmons hit to McPheters, who threw to first, Gibson dropping the ball. P. Timmons and Horan struck out. No runs.

3d Inning—Mulholland hit to Wilkinson and was out at first. Marden was out at first, Horan to Wilkinson. Butler singled through short. He was out stealing, J. Bailey to P. Bailey. No runs.

J. Timmons fled out to McPheters. Wilkinson was thrown out at first, McPheters to Gibson. O'Brien doubled to left. Reardon was out at first, Jordan to Gibson. No runs.

4th Inning—Thomas hit to J. Timmons at third and was safe on an error. Gibson reached first on an error by P. Bailey. Thomas taking third. They pulled a fine double steal, Thomas scoring. Craig hit safe to left. Gibson was out trying to get home on the hit, O'Brien to J. Bailey. Shuttleworth was safe when P. Timmons threw to J. Timmons, getting Craig at third. Jordan singled over second, advancing Shuttleworth to second. McPheters fled out to T. Timmons in center. One run.

J. Bailey was thrown out at first, Marden to Gibson. P. Bailey struck out. T. Timmons hit to McPheters, who threw to Gibson. The runner was safe as Gibson pulled away from the base before getting the ball. P. Timmons struck out. No runs.

5th Inning—Mulholland fanned. Marden was out on a fly to J. Timmons. Butler fled out to T. Timmons in center. No runs.

Horan fled to McPheters who made a fine running catch. J. Timmons doubled one to right for three bases and made home when McPheters threw wild to third on the return. Wilkinson was safe at first on a wild throw to Gibson by Marden, Wilkinson taking second. O'Brien was out at first, Jordan to Gibson, Wilkinson going to third. Reardon fanned and was out at first, Thomas to Gibson. One run.

JACQUES FOURNIER HAS DEVELOPED INTO A STAR OF THE GAME, IS BATTING AND FIELDING SENSATIONALLY.

Chicago, June 24—Up to the present season the Chicago White Stockings were woefully weak in two positions—at the initial and keystone baselines. The acquisition of Eddie Collins filled up the gap at second, and up to the opening of the season and for some time after Clarence Rowland was still experimenting with rookies at first. The situation remained in that condition until one day early in the spring he decided to give Jacques Fournier

CABLE LETTER

London, June 23—Twenty-five thousands of deaths during the past month in answer to the call of their empire for more troops and the men are laughing at the rigor of life in the great military camp at Schoradiffers.

Canada's answer to Kitchener's call for troops is the most emphatic of all the colonials.

And the answer is not easy. There are things to be undergone here and on the voyage that would arouse these men to mutiny were it not for the all-withstanding patriotism that urges them on, and in the words of the French-Canadian corporal spoken on the Saxonia, "Is driving them at the threats of the Germans to take toll for the comrades of the first expedition who were crucified to make a Tonten holiday."

It is one of the Saxonia's details that this is written by a man who sailed on that liner. She carried from Halifax to Plymouth the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-second battalions of volunteer infantry. She was chased out of her course by submarines. She was overcrowded and poorly served because of the meagre crew that could be mustered and her commissary department was not well organized; but none of these things could dampen the ardor of her passengers, straining as they were to get at grips with the armies that were spoken of on board the Saxonia only as "pirates," "Huns" and "Vandals."

Men and officers are eager for the call to France or Dardanelles. After straining at the lash with months of training and drill in Canada, and after coming to the realization that followed the danger of their trip here they were seeking the opportunity to make something of it.

The trip of the Saxonia is one that will live always with the men who were her passengers and crew. She had carried from Liverpool to New York an ordinary passenger list. She landed in New York on Wednesday, May 12. Orders were at once received to convert the big ship into a transport and the order caused consternation because the crew was far too short, and when it leaked out that she was to sail under Admiralty orders, it became almost impossible to obtain men to fill any of the places. She sailed from New York the following Sunday with little more than half a crew.

Cleared for Quebec, the Saxonia received orders just outside New York harbor to proceed instead to Halifax. These orders were given by wireless from a grim cruiser which showed the Union Jack at her masthead.

The liner's engines picked up all her speed as she veered to the north. Halifax was reached on Tuesday. Here who was then holding down an outfield berth, a trial as first-baseman, and almost with the making of his decision Rowland's troubles faded. Fournier fitted into his new shoes as if to the manner born, and almost simultaneously with the shift he started clouting the ball in a fly Cobb. Now Jacques is rated as one of the really good first sackers in the business, and he is looked upon as the only dangerous rival of Ty Cobb for batting honors of the American League.

The Saxonia was overcrowded. She had never before carried so many, and this led the commissary officials of the Quartermaster into a mistake that very nearly brought a mutiny to the ship. It was a mistake caused by the rigorous holding of the traditional idea of caste.

The commissioned officers of the expedition were of course housed in the first cabin, and the chief steward of the Saxonia devoted all his energies towards providing these eighty men with the fat of the land, to the neglect of the more than two thousand non-commissioned officers and men.

The food served up in the second cabin (the sergeant's mess) and the storeroom, where privates and corporals were quartered, during the first two or three days was a slopped up mess that was revolting. The men arose in a body to demand a betterment of conditions and the protest culminated in one section holding the dining quarters at breakfast until the commanding officer had been summoned and had given a promise of improvement. This promise was kept when volunteers from the expedition were called upon to help the crew.

But the marvel of the trip was not these disagreeable incidents. It was courage, the unconquerable spirit, the indefinable nerve that made officers and men alike hush at the danger that the wireless warned them of and that caused the ship to turn sharp in the night with blanketed ports and rush off under forced draft from the menace of an unseen submarine.

On the Wednesday night before the Saxonia landed at Plymouth on Sunday, there was a concert given in the first saloon for the benefit of an orphanage in Liverpool. Every man who could crowd into the big room did so. Officers and men followed each other in the program, which would have done credit to any theatrical manager. It was an inspiration to the whole ship—what an inspiration is indicated by the fact that on the following day several members of the crew went forward to the commanding officers and enlisted.

The Saxonia had been forced far out of her course. When she turned her bow toward the harbor at Plymouth she did so at a point about three hundred miles south, where she picked up the convoy that had been dispatched to give her safe conduct into the haven which she sought.

THE EARL AND THE GIRL" DRAW CAPACITY HOUSE

CLEVER MUSICAL COMEDY AT PORTSMOUTH THEATRE PLEASES AUDIENCE

The opening performance of that collecting musical comedy entitled "The Earl and the Girl" at the Portsmouth Theatre last evening was marked by a capacity house, and the applause given showed the high favor with which the comedy met. The plot revolves around a young lady who is looking for a title and an Earl who is looking for a fortune. To say that the climax is worked out in a clever and intensely interesting manner is enough to say without giving the away. The cast includes some clever comedians, excellent singers, and a host of pretty girls.

The Gns Nager Trio is another strong combination, and their songs and music is varied enough to please all.

The other big act on the vaudeville bill consisted of Tynner and Hietene, a man and woman song and dance act. A clever and entertaining couple.

ROCKINGHAM FAIR WILL BE HELD IN SEPTEMBER

In order to produce as nearly as possible the old-fashioned country fair with its exhibits of huge pumpkins, large luscious fruits and the very best that New England produces in vegetables the management of the Rockingham Fair announces that the date has been extended almost a month.

This year Rockingham will open on Sept. 28 and conclude Oct. 1. This is harvest time in New England and Rockingham will have one of the greatest exhibits of farm products that has ever been shown in New England.

Chester J. Campbell, who so successfully managed Rockingham last year is again in complete control of its affairs as he recently secured a lease of this famous race course and fair grounds. He will have the same experts at the head of each department and his instructions will be to produce the best that can be obtained regardless of expense. Rockingham was a big winner under Mr. Campbell's management last season and he believes that it still has plenty of room to grow.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR RETURNED LATE LAST EVENING

Dinner was served at 1 p. m. and during the afternoon athletic sports such as shot-put, pistol race, running broad jump, throwing ball, fifty yard dash, hop step and jump were run off. Supper was served at 6 and the return trip made at 8 p. m.

FAREWELL RECEPTION AND DANCE OF 1915 CLASS

Large Number Attended Final Festivity of Portsmouth High Seniors

The final festivity of the Class of 1915, Portsmouth High School, was held last evening in Freeman's Hall. The reception and dance of the 1915 Seniors was one of the most brilliant and enjoyable in the history of the school. From the opening dance until the "Home, Sweet Home" the floor was crowded with the members of the class and their guests. The balcony was also filled with the friends of the graduates and the party was a success in every way. The balcony front was draped with bunting of the class colors, white and gold, and the stage banked with palms and potted plants.

Following the reception the grand march was formed, led by John J. Hissett, President; and Miss Mabel Young, Vice-president; and Garland Tucker, Treasurer; and Miss Myrtle Smith, Secretary. This was one of the prettiest marches seen in the city. It was participated in only by the class members and after following the usual movements comprising the regulation march the lines were brought to a stand, when the figures XV, the class numerals, had been formed. The guests on the floor and in the balcony applauded for several minutes and it was a pretty move, excellently executed.

After the conclusion of the march, dancing was in order and this was continued until a late hour. During the intermission refreshments of ices, cakes and punch were served. The souvenir dance orders were very fine and were bound in white leather, embossed on the front with the class seal in gold.

The solvener dance orders were very fine and were bound in white leather, embossed on the front with the class seal in gold.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, June 24—To impress the voters of Massachusetts with the enormous numbers of Massachusetts women who want the right to vote, Bay State suffragettes have just decided to have another parade—a monster affair, which will outstrip last year's spectacle, which ranked as the largest ever held in the country. The date selected is October 16, just two weeks before the men of the state will decide whether the women of the Commonwealth are to be given the ballot. Mrs. Evelyn Peckley Coe, secretary of the Massachusetts Woman's Suffrage Association, said today: "Ever since women began to fight for suffrage, the men have insisted that the women could have it if they really wanted it. By sheer weight of numbers alone we intend to show the men of Massachusetts just how many thousands of women do want to vote. The parade will be one of the best demonstrations possible. Coming just before the election, it ought to be effective. Suffrage enrollment is increasing, by leaps and bounds. We are enrolling new names at the rate of 15,000 a month. Suffrage sentiment is spreading faster than we could have hoped in our fondest dreams. Six weeks ago we reached the 100,000 mark. We are well on our way to 200,000.

Boston, June 24—Although some of those who were employed as census enumerators are complaining because they have not received their compensation for work completed several weeks ago, Director Gettman of the Bureau of Statistics said today that the work of canvassing the enumerators' returns is proceeding with all speed possible. Under the statute providing for the taking of the state census, the director is charged with the duty of canvassing the returns from the 2100 enumeration districts in the state and determining, so far as possible their accuracy before he can approve vouchers for the pay of the enumerators.

The game this evening between the P. A. C. and Y. M. C. A. means a lot to both teams and should be a pipkin.

Dangers of Speed Madness.

The speed madness from which the present age is suffering is illustrated every day by happenings, fatal and otherwise, that would never have occurred in the absence of a rush for which there is no excuse. It is true that this is a rapid age. Business and everything else is moving at a pace undreamed of in the earlier days, and to keep step with the order of the day in any line one must be active, but there is a rush and haste in the life of the times that are wholly unnecessary, with loss of life as the penalty in far too many instances.

The columns of the newspapers contain almost daily accounts of killings and maimings which are chargeable entirely to the mad haste which characterizes the movements of the people at this time, which results in carelessness in the face of danger and develops a disposition to take chances which is decidedly unwholesome in its consequences.

Emphatic proof that this is so is afforded by a statement recently issued by General Manager J. A. McCrea of the Long Island railroad, which shows that since 1911 there have been 507 grade crossing accidents on that system as the result of recklessness on the part of automobilists, motorcyclists and drivers of teams. In that period 40 persons were killed and 111 were injured under circumstances which relieved the railroad company of all responsibility. Says Mr. McCrea: "In 157 cases automobile and wagon drivers defiantly ran their machines and vehicles through lowered gates, damaging the railroad's property to the extent of breaking the crossing gates. In attempting to cross the tracks 125 automobiles and 53 wagons were damaged. Some were struck by trains, while others received damage by contact with lowered gates."

This record shows vividly the wide-spread prevalence of the speed craze. It is not probable that a single one of this long list of accidents had a particle of justification. A moment's waiting in each case would have prevented them all, but the drivers felt that they could not wait, and so they undertook to jam across the tracks ahead of the trains and took the consequences, paying for their folly with their lives or the suffering of serious injuries.

It is well to abolish grade crossings wherever that is practicable, but there is no reason why any one should be injured at crossings where there are safety gates. So long as people will take such desperate chances there will be trouble. It is time to apply the brakes to speed madness, which is one of the greatest curses and dangers of the day.

A terrific volcanic eruption at sea south of Japan is reported. Just how a "pillar of fire" got up through the water is not easy for the unscientific to understand, but it is said there was one, accompanied by a cloud of smoke that turned day into night, notwithstanding the mighty flame from the bottom of the sea. The old earth seems to be on the rampage, as well as her children.

It is reported that $15,000 worth of valuables have been stolen from the San Francisco exposition. Does not this denote a somewhat careless handling of property submitted to the management? It would seem that valuables, and especially rare jewels that had been kindly loaned for exhibition purposes by a private owner, ought to have been kept beyond the reach of thieves.

It is estimated that intervention in Mexico would cost the United States $800,000,000 a year. But the money cost would be the least part of the burden, and the people have a right to thank their lucky stars that they have a president who is determined to keep this country out of the miserable mess if it is possible to do so.

Frequent reports indicate a dogged determination on the part of some persons to deal in drugs in spite of the prohibition. But many of the adventurers have come to grief and the probability is that this form of enterprise will not prove popular, notwithstanding the profits.

There have already been some very destructive storms in the West and numerous lives have been lost. The West leads in some things, but there are certain advantages in the eastern part of the country that are not to be despised.

Cantaloupes that bring the growers in California a fraction over two cents apiece retail in New York at from 10 to 25 cents each. It is apparent that the middleman has not been eliminated from the cantaloupe business.

Bryan took himself out of the cabinet, but nothing can take him out of the public eye. He is receiving an immense amount of attention for one who is assumed to be down and out.

The let-up on "big business" is not quite so complete as some had imagined. The supreme court has not yet got through with the International Harvester company.

When Harry Kendall Thaw, now forty-five years old, backed by a great array of legal talent, began his greatest effort to procure his freedom from the madhouse to which he was ordered when he was acquitted of the murder of Stanford White, whom he shot to death on Madison Square roof nine years ago, two of the most interested spectators were Mrs. Mary Conley Thaw, his mother, and his sister, Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie. In the accompanying illustration Mrs. Thaw and her daughter, Mrs. Carnegie, are shown on the way to the courtroom.

PRESS CLEANINGS

SPECIAL SESSION

The passage by the Massachusetts legislature of the Boston & Maine reorganization bill may bring about the calling of the New Hampshire legislature in special session within a few weeks. Governor Spaulding will issue the call if a proposition is put forward by friends of the Boston & Maine which the governor could regard as having a chance of passing the state legislature. Representatives of the leased lines held a conference with President Henth in Boston this week, at the close of which the following statement was given out: "The general situation, past, present and future, was reviewed and all present agreed that it is desirable to keep the present system intact and that a receivership should be if possible avoided. It was understood that to make any plan of reorganization effective it would be necessary to secure legislation in New Hampshire on lines similar to that recently enacted in Massachusetts. It was voted by the conference that a committee consisting of one member from each of the lines should be appointed to consider the situation from the standpoint of the lesser companies."—Lancaster Democrat.

"BUY IT NOW" CAMPAIGN GAINS MOMENTUM

Indications throughout the country are that the "Buy It Now" campaign is bearing substantial fruit, the incentive being to promote business and aid the consumer while prices are at their lowest. This campaign is based on the most patriotic impulses, and the advice to buy now is sound whether the purchase is a suit of clothes, a pot of paint, or a lot upon which to build a home, or anything else. One who has the means, or who can command credit, should not hesitate to buy now while prices are depressed in everything except food.

He is a public homefactor who, in order to help trade, makes his purchases at this juncture. Many purchases made now will accomplish a great deal to accelerate business which has already started on the upward climb, and will give an impetus to confidence in the future. Let us all join in a movement that will help to make prosperity an early realization.—Manchester Mirror.

NAVY YARD NEWS

Ship Will Stay.

The department today gave instructions to proceed with the necessary repairs on the North Carolina and ordered that the commanding officer give liberty and extended furloughs to the men. This ends all talk of a quick departure of the vessel to Mexico.

Will Look After It.

Paymaster E. H. Cape has been assigned to additional duties at the yard as head of the commissary store shortly to be established.

They All Want It.

The men aboard the several vessels at the yard are very active in the matter of boat racing on the river, planned for July 5. On Thursday, Duke Ashworth, representing the Portsmouth Yacht Club called on the officers and men of the ships and made the necessary arrangements for the racing contest. It will be a cutter race and it is expected that boat crews from the Montana, North Carolina, San Francisco, Tacoma, Duquesne, Southern and Tencha will be out after the cups on that date.

Witnessed the Landing

Industrial Manager L. S. Adams attended at the yard today after a short furlough passed in New York. During his absence he had the pleasure of witnessing the launching of the U. S. S. Arizona at Quincy, where his presence was also required as a member of a board on changes for vessels under construction there.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

The old fossil merchant says: "I wish them fellows would quit advertising these goods in the newspapers. It keeps me so busy I can't go fishing."

But the new fangled merchant—the kind that gets rich—says: "Hello, here's the manufacturer's advertising in our newspapers. That means business for me. I must get the goods in the window and put the cash register in order. Nothing like newspaper advertising to start the customers coming."

APPOINTMENTS ARE EXPECTED TO BE MADE

Charles R. Quinn of This City a Strong Candidate for License Inspector.

Concord, June 24.—Important appointments are looked for tomorrow by both the governor and council and the board of trustees. It is practically certain that at least two of the excise commissioners will be appointed, as that board takes over the duties of the license commission July 1; and tomorrow is the last meeting of the council before that date. The board of trustees will relieve the board of control of the management of the state institutions on July 8, and it is assumed the meeting here tomorrow was called for the purpose of naming a business manager as well as to map out a line of work for the board.

The talk here tonight fixes upon Dwight Hall of Dover and Frank W. Ordway of Milford as the likeliest recipients of the excise commission appointments. The Democratic member is almost sure to be Robert Jackson of Concord, but there is some doubt as to whether Jackson will be named tomorrow, as the governor is half expected to nominate Edmund Sullivan of Berlin. There is not the remotest expectation among the politicians close to the councilors that Sullivan will be confirmed and if Governor Spaulding nominates him, it will be more to define his approval of Sullivan's course as chairman of the present board than with any belief that the appointment will go through.

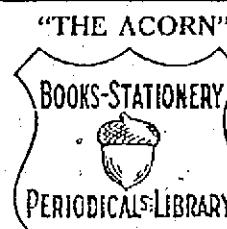

There was much talk tonight about the liquor inspectors, friends of the leading candidates being much in evidence. The greatest strength seemed to be possessed by Charles F. Bean of Franklin, Ben O. Aldrich of Keene and Charles Quinn of Portsmouth. It was intimated by men close to the governor that he favors a return to the system under the original commission of having two Republicans and one Democratic inspector, but the councilors are not enthusiastic about that proposal and point to the Feltner administration's breaking away from the plan followed in the first ten years of the local option law operation, as good precedent for the present administration to follow.

If the governor's plan should prevail it is reasonably certain that the two Republican inspectors would be selected from among Bean, Aldrich and Quinn, while Edward K. Webster of the present staff of inspectors is picked to be the minority selection. Webster's strength is based on the belief that Robert Jackson will be the minority member of the commission and it is assumed the Democratic inspector would be named by him.

Senator William A. Danforth seems to have the call for the business manager's job of the board of control. He was originally a candidate for purchasing agent, when it was expected the board of trustees would name both a business manager and a purchasing agent. The talk now is, though, that the jobs will be combined. Capt. Frank L. Downs of Manchester and Frank A. Dockham of Manchester have been mentioned for a place under the new board, but Danforth seems to have the most strength and unless the board has somebody in mind who has not figured in the general speculation, the Concord senator stands a good chance. Charles T. Patten of Nashua has been suggested to the board for the place.

There is a belief that a public service commissioner may be named tomorrow, also. Commissioner John E. Benton is a hold-over commissioner, his term having expired the first of the month. Governor Spaulding was strongly in favor of Benton's reappointment, but the council takes the same stand against him that it does against Sullivan for the excise board.

CURRENT OPINION

Total Abstinence From Alcohol Is One of the Most Important Rules of Hygiene

To preserve health it is important that food be masticated thoroughly. From a layman's point of view this rule surpasses all the others. If one thoroughly chews his food he will improve the proportion of food and make the proportion of protein more equal than it is.

Second, avoid constipation, because there is a constant filtration of the poisons in the body through the system, and it goes on with great rapidity.

To get rid of the poisons of the body we should get rid of poisons outside. We should get rid of habit forming drugs as well as things we don't generally realize as drugs. I refer to alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee. It is true many a man can live to what we call a ripe old age in spite of the use of these. If you want to get the highest efficiency you must avoid all poisons.

The alcohol poison is the greatest of the poisons taken in from the outside. It is only recently that medical men have come to the realization of the insidious effect of alcohol on the protoplasm and the tremendous tax we pay for the use of alcohol. Total abstinence is one of the important rules of hygiene.

Nevertheless the attitude of mind which we have toward ourselves is of great assistance in health.

There are four diseases of the mind which should be eliminated—anger, fear, worry and hurry. One thing which is killing the people of this nation and changing the shape of the earth is foolish hurry and worry. Observe this last rule.—By Professor Irving Fisher, Yale University.

LOOKS LIKE A BIG NIGHT

Committee Working Hard for July 4th Celebration.

The committee which are successfully carried out the big New Year affair are going to do a little for the Fourth of July celebration and have combined with the Portsmouth Yacht Club in the matter of arrangements for the same.

They are planning for a big fire on the playgrounds, ringing of all bells in the city, a band and other features that have in the past shown the spirit of the old town. Everybody who donated financially to the New Year celebration knows the success that followed in the way of amusement and from a business standpoint, and there should be no hesitation in putting your name on the list of the collectors.

Some of the features planned by the committee will be carried out on the night of the 5th, as the committee could not carry out many original plans owing to the Fourth falling on Sunday. However we are going to be on the map again and everybody should take hold and give the thing a push.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Throws Bouquets at Veterans

Mr. Editor: Is it possible to ascertain whether or not the Veteran Firemen are to participate in any way in the State Firemen's outing scheduled for Portsmouth in the near future. The public, who after all pay the bills, are anxious to know if the Vets will be invited to take part in keeping with the dignity and popularity of their organization. The Franklin Pierce Association should be represented on all the committees appointed to arrange for this event. When it comes to battling the fiery elements and arranging a suitable program for a state convention, these men have derived a tremendous education from practical experience. They are exceptionally familiar with every detail of conventions, and their knowledge and experience would unquestionably save the city quite a round sum of money.

A suggestion recently appeared in your paper relative to a playoff between the two tubs, one to be manned by the Vets and the other by a crew representing the several active companies. It was a very good suggestion. The firemen should endeavor to please the public and the recommendation is one that should be favorably considered.

The Vets by their brave and heroic deeds of the past have endeared themselves to our citizenship and when they decide to have the New England Firemen's Muster in Portsmouth, the Board of Trade, the Merchants' Exchange and our business men generally will respond financially in a most generous manner.

BOX 16.

Suggestions for the Celebration

Mr. Editor: Are the people of Portsmouth beginning to lack the spirit of their forefathers on ushering in the glorious Fourth with the ancient bonfire? Do we have to depend on the loyalty of two or three men to promote and awaken a feeling of respect for what the day should remind us—the Flag. A few years ago our dear city officials discouraged a bonfire on account of the cost incurred in scattering the ashes. As the city men are paid for July 4th, this seemed a poor excuse.

The great day is but little more than a week away. Someone should get busy. Stake out a place on the playgrounds, interest the boys, inculcate a spirit of loyalty in their young minds, place a guard around the new grandstand, are the suggestions offered by an American, first, last, and always.

UNITED STATES SENDS ANSWER

Reply to Last German Note Is Cabled to Gerard at Berlin.

Washington, June 24.—The reply of the United States to the last German note regarding the case of the American ship William P. Frye, sunk by the commerce raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was dispatched to Berlin today.

In substance the note reiterates the contention that the sinking of the Frye was in violation of international law and of the Prussian-American treaty of 1923, and asks for reparation without reference to prize court proceedings. Germany has agreed to make reparation under the treaty of 1923, but justifies the destruction of the Frye and has referred the case to a prize court.

LITTLE BOWERY BAND WILL HELP OUT

The Little Bowery A. C. are going to help in the celebration on the night of July 4, and will treat their newly organized life and drum corps. The organization has the right spirit, and are going to aid in every way, the celebration now being planned by a committee, who appreciate the services of the band on this occasion.

EIGHT KILLED WHEN TRAINS MEET ON BRIDGE

Blue Mountain Express and Accommodation Train in Head-On Crash Near Gettysburg.

Gettysburg, Pa., June 24.—Eight persons are known to have been killed and from 12 to 14 were injured in a head-on collision between the Blue Mountain special and a local train on the Western Maryland railroad near the Mason and Dixon line tonight.

The trains, which were going at high speed, met on a bridge spanning a deep ravine between Highfield and Thurmont, and it is feared that some of the passengers were thrown from the bridge.

The location of the wreck is isolated and darkness prevented rapid search. Telegraph wires were carried down and it was difficult to obtain information.

A mistake or misunderstanding of orders is believed to have been the cause. The trains had orders to stop, but an error had occurred and the fast express was going almost 60 miles an hour when it struck the local train on the bridge.

The engines were telescoped, three members of the engine crews and a baggage-master being killed. Three, and possibly four, passengers were killed.

The Dead—Charles Cook, engineer of the accommodation train; Charles R. Fritz, fireman; Luther Hall, baggage-master; Mrs. Chipchase of Baltimore and her son.

A baggage car apparently was the only one that left the bridge, but one of the parlor cars was suspended over the side. All the cars of the special train were of steel construction.

The private car of President Gray containing a number of officials of the Western Maryland was on the train, but none of the officials was killed.

The bridge on which the accident occurred is 200 feet high, and it is considered miraculous that both trains were not precipitated to the bottom of the ravine.

ENTERTAINED BY ELKS

Bradford Commandery, K. T.,
Has Enjoyable Stay in This City.

Shortly after nine o'clock Thursday evening Bradford Commandery, Knights Templar of Bladeford, who had enjoyed a pilgrimage to the Chamberlaine, Kittery Point, came to this city. Line was formed and headed by the Chamberlaine's splendid band marched up Market street to the Square, down Congress to Middle to State to Pleasant and to the Elks' Home. They became the guests of the Portsmouth lodge of Elks and were entertained by them until 10:30.

The Elks, who had been in session, joined the Sir Knights and headed by the band, acted as an escort to the station, via Pleasant street, Congress street to Vaughan street to Deer street and to the station, staying with them until their train departed.

On the way to the depot the band discoursed most excellent music which was listened to by a large number of our citizens who were out to witness the departure of the Sir Knights.

BAD PRACTICE.

Drivers Not Observing Rules
on One-Way Streets.

Notwithstanding the notices published in the papers and the erection of signs, "one-way street," drivers of vehicles, most of them local people, utterly ignore the signs on Maplewood avenue and Vaughan street, and move just opposite to the reading of the sign. If this continues it is likely to cause trouble or an accident on the highway where autos complying with the rules are liable to be speeding along not looking for anything in the opposite direction, and then the crash.

Signs that can be seen and read might possibly bring some relief to the situation.

IT COST HIM JUST $27.04

Had Nearly $200 in His Pocket
"5 and 10."

A man giving his name as Michael Joseph, claiming a residence in the Polish colony, visited the five and ten cent store of Woolworth on Thursday afternoon with nearly $200 good American money tucked away in his jeans. The outcome of his visit to this emporium showed, plainly that Michael was not on any shopping tour where it would require him to segregate himself from the portable bank account he was carrying. On the other hand, he went here apparently to annex a few household articles gratis, and was about to navigate to his domicile when a floor walker held him up. He had a comb, drinking cup, and some cotton cloth, all valued at less than 25 cents.

His call at the 5 and 10 ought to be a most memorable one, and for his little job of larceny he cannot help but believe it was expensive. For what he could have got out of for 15 or 20 cents he paid a fine of $5 and costs of $8.64; gave a lawyer $10 for defending him; paid $2 to a bail commissioner, for admitting him to bail; the same amount to an interpreter, and had to put up $50 as bail money.

Two others with him in the eventful trip got away before the police could get them.

Petty thieving at this store has been brisk of late and the management intends that it shall be checked.

WARSAW NEXT OBJECTIVE OF GERMAN OFFENSIVE

Forces Are Preparing For New Drive --Dernberg Held in England

London, June 24.—A despatch from Amsterdam to the Central News says that the Germans, following their victory in Galicia, have already made preparations for another attempt to capture Warsaw. According to this despatch, German troops from Galicia already have been transferred to the "luzar" front, west of Warsaw.

LEMBERG RESISTED STRONGLY

Berlin (via London), June 24.—Details of the taking of Lemberg, while still meagre, show that the Russian troops put up a strong resistance to the very last, and this in spite of the fact that their situation was hopeless. Before the city fell the armies under General von Mackensen and Archduke Joseph Ferdinand had driven wedges deep into the northern section of the Russian line, even as far as Tanev, cutting this line into two detached parts. Under pressure from the northwest and following especially effective artillery bombardment by the army of General Boehm-Ermolli, the archduke completed the disaster by breaking the Russian center, which was supported on Lemberg. At the same time General von Mackensen pressed heavily on the soldiers of Emperor Nicholas who were in full retreat along the line from Lemberg to Rawa Ruska. General Boehm-Ermolli assumed the pursuit of the army northward and east of Lemberg.

As soon as the investment of Lemberg had been completed, according to the despatches reaching Berlin, the Russians, threatened by the further advance of the Germans and the Austro-Hungarians, also began retreating from the angle in northern Galicia, formed by the rivers San and Vistula, a section of territory which lies to the northwest of Przemyśl, as well as from the district around Klele, in Russian Poland, about 100 miles south of Warsaw.

The victorious troops of the German army were given an ovation when they entered Lemberg. The city is described as having been little damaged, with the exception of a big fire in the western part, where the Russians ignited some petroleum and benzine tanks, the railroad station and several adjoining factories. The city apparently had not been touched by the artillery fire of the Russians and the Austrians. Captured officers declare that even until very recently the fall of Lemberg had not been regarded as a remote possibility by the Russians. The fortifications of the city had been modernized by them in every way.

The loss of Lemberg deprives the Russians of their last strong supporting point on Galician soil. The moral effect of the occupation also will be considerable. It is now being recalled in Berlin that three months ago Emperor Nicholas declared that the fall of Przemyśl, in connection with the occupation of Lemberg, constituted an overpowering victory for the Slavs.

HOLD GAINS IN CARNIA

Rome, June 24.—The official statement issued last night at the headquarters of the general staff of the Italian army was as follows:

"Along the entire front there has been an artillery duel between pieces of heavy and medium calibre. The enemy endeavored last night to attack particularly Montepiano, Val Grande, Val Piccolo, Cressinverze (situated between Plazocollina and Zellentofel) and Crestaverde, which was occupied by our troops yesterday.

"During the night of June 21-22 and continuing the following day the enemy made three desperate attacks against our position at Prekofel. All attacks were resisted successfully by the splendid fire of our artillery and the use of hand grenades. The enemy left 200 bodies on the battlefield.

"In the Bay of Pizzo preparations are being made by the Austrians for the installation of heavy artillery, and along the neighboring heights convoys have been seen going from Pizzo toward the upper Isonzo.

"In the Monte Nero region and along the Isonzo the day of June 22 passed quietly."

Wedding of Miss Genevieve Clark and James M. Thomson to Be Brilliant Affair.

Photos by American Press Association.

The entire country in general, and Bowling Green, Mo., and Washington in particular, are on the height of expectancy over the approaching wedding of Miss Genevieve Clark, the daughter of Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark and James M. Thomson of New Orleans. The wedding will take place June 29 at the Clark home in Bowling Green, Mo. Miss Clark and Mr. Thomson first met at the Baltimore convention, where Mr. Thomson went in the interest of the speaker. Miss Clark is one of the most popular of the young girls in official circles in Washington. Mr. Thomson was graduated from Johns Hopkins in 1897 and was only nineteen when he finished at the university. He is a native of Virginia, the son of Dr. and Mrs. Augustus Pembroke Thomson of Summit Point, W. Va., and is editor and publisher of the New Orleans Item.

AMERICA HAS NO REAL GRIEVANCE

Says British Note and Recites Efforts to Instigate Blockade for Neutrals --More Time on German Goods.

Washington, June 24.—The memorandum prepared by Lord Crewe at the British Foreign Office for the purpose of checkmating President Wilson in his determination to send another protest to London concerning the mistreatment of American commerce was published today by the state department.

The memorandum evades the issues raised by President Wilson in his protest of March 23 and apparently was prepared for the purpose of placating American shippers by exonerating the treatment of American ships and commerce on various pretexts, and promising to treat neutral ships in a better manner hereafter.

From the contents of today's communication it became apparent to officials that the British government, has no intention of removing the bars which it placed in the way of German-American commerce by the order of council on March 21, but intends to drag out all the questions at issue through an interminable diplomatic correspondence.

It is probable the British document will fall flat as far as effect upon the administration is concerned, and that the President will send a second sharp note of protest to London when the German situation is clarified.

There is an apparent attempt made in the construction of the note to put the United States government on record as admitting the legality of the provisions of the British order in council, which this government will probably be called upon to deny without delay.

The British government seemingly interprets as official acts of the government, the unofficial activities of the foreign trade advisers who have been negotiating with Sir Richard Crawford of the British Embassy, in an effort to clear as many German-American shipments as possible.

The state department already has explained to the British Foreign Office that the activities of the trade advisers must not be interpreted as interpretations from the United States government and that nothing they did or said would change the administration's attitude toward the order in council.

In general, the note states that the British Admiralty and the British Prize Courts have been instructed to accelerate the handling of all American vessels and cargoes with which they might be called upon to deal.

Delays in prize court proceedings have been caused by the failure of the American representatives to have their cases prepared upon the dates set for trial.

The note states that most of the cotton cargoes which have been detained have been bought and paid for by the British government and that a similar procedure would have followed in every case now under consideration if it had not been for the failure of the American shippers to present their claims properly anchored for.

Approximately $2,250,000 has been paid by the British government to American cotton shippers, the note states as proof of its willingness to carry out its promises to settle all such cases.

Lord Crewe states that the Admiralty has given preferential treatment to many American cargoes such as dyestuffs, in spite of the provisions of the order in council.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN
Are Appreciated By Portsmouth People.

Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Portsmouth.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Kidney Pills years ago, and now makes his testimony even stronger.

Mrs. Arthur M. Morrison, 29 Gate St., Portsmouth, says: "I had pains in my back and sides. My kidneys were weak and often I had nervous and dizzy spells. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and used some. I wasn't long before they completely cured me. The cure has been permanent. You may continue publishing the endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills before."

In line with the promises set forth in the Crewe memorandum the British Embassy today advised the state department that the consul at Rotterdam had been instructed to put his O.K. on all shipments out of Germany for Americans, where there was evidence to show that these cargoes had been paid for before March 1.

The concession was made as a result of the general complaint which went up throughout the United States when the British Foreign Office announced that nothing whatever would be allowed to leave Germany after June 15.

BRYAN OPENS "PEACE FIGHT"

New York Mass Meeting Makes Demand for Embargo on Arms.

New York, June 24.—William Jennings Bryan addressing a meeting in Madison Square Garden tonight under the auspices of "The Friends of Peace," an organization of various societies of American citizens, gave his definition of national honor and called upon his hearers to "cast your influence, not in favor of either side, but in favor of peace for the United States and against war with any belligerent nation."

After Mr. Bryan spoke the meeting passed a resolution calling upon the administration to place an embargo on the exportation of arms and ammunition.

Mr. Bryan began his address tonight by declaring his conviction that the people of this country would stand solidly behind the President in case of war, but whether we should engage in war, he said, is a question which is still open for discussion. Mr. Bryan asserted that there is no question but that the nation's honor shall be maintained, but only a question as to what is national honor as a sentiment, and sentiment one of the greatest factors in human progress.

"Every reform," Mr. Bryan continued, "has to overcome existing sentiment. But when the reform is once established the new sentiment which it creates becomes a compelling force and operates against a change. It is the duty of each citizen to judge between the old and the new—to give truth from falsehood and then give himself unreservedly to the defense of the right as he sees it."

Mr. Bryan said all citizens were agreed that this country should follow an honorable course, but whether it should be the old blood stained definition which he said the Juggers recommended, or a definition in harmony with the spirit of the age, is a question upon which every citizen has a right to speak.

LOOKING FOR APPOINTMENTS

Governor and Council Expected to Name Excise Board Today.

The governor and council meet today and a very busy session is looked for. They are expected to make some appointments including a new board to handle the liquor traffic unless the governor changes his mind about nominating Edmund Sullivan for the minority place on the excise board or he has done the hitherto impossible by changing the minds of his councilors the excise board will begin its duty next month with only two members.

Who these will be is problematical, although Dwight Hall of Dover seems to be surely slated for the chairmanship and $2500 salary. Whether Henry W. Keyes of Haverhill, Algie Haysvert of Manchester or Frank W. Ordway of Milford gets the other Republican place is to be decided tonight or tomorrow. Haysvert has some strong support among the machine leaders and while the governor has frequently expressed himself as opposed to appointing a Frenchman on the board it would not surprise many if Haysvert lands.

The governor has expressed strong convictions against naming several eminent citizens who now hold lucrative places represented by the present administration.

There is talk that William T. Gunnison of Rochester, Governor Peck's law partner and Governor Scammon's confidential adviser, will be made public service commissioner to succeed J. B. Benton. Dwight Hall has positively declined the place it is said, preferring the easy money that goes with the excise commissionership to the hard work of the public service commission, although the latter carries $1000 more salary. The excise commissionership would not interfere with Mr. Hall's private business while the other would.

It is expected the board of trustees will name the business manager when they meet tomorrow. Senator William A. Danforth of Concord and Hopkinton believes he has the inside track and some of the trustees do speak most kindly of Danforth. The governor would like to have Henry S. Tilton of Concord who served on the Hancock commission, appointed, but two reasons preclude his selection. The first and most important is that he is the governor's choice and the other is that Mr. Tilton is a Democrat.

There is nothing spectacular or remarkable about the general course of policy in the Western country as the result of the vote of women. Women seem to be against Socialism in Montana and California, they have helped to put some very fine child and family legislation upon the statute-books of Colorado, they are strong supporters of the prohibition movement, they come out in larger and larger percentages of the total, in the Republican primary and in the general election in the city of Chicago last spring they showed great practical sense under rather trying circumstances; they are generally more eager to find out the reason for the choice they propose to register than the men are, and if they do not find it they do not vote—a great many men under the same circumstances vote "No," or take a "hunch" from higher up—but there seem to be no revolutionary changes and no injury to the warp and woof of our political fabric as the result of woman suffrage in the West.—Frederick M. Davenport, in The Outlook, June 16, 1915.

PORTSMOUTH TEAM HAD GOOD SEASON

High School Scored Nine Victories in Eleven Games.

The Portsmouth high school baseball team has completed one of the most successful seasons in years. Of the 11 games played with some of the best teams in this section of New England, eight were victories, two defeats and one tie. Up until the last game of the season, Portsmouth has been defeated but once, losing a game to Nashua high school early in the season. The last game of the year resulted in a 2 to 1 defeat by Dover high school in 11 innings. Portsmouth defeated Rochester high school, champions of the Southeastern New Hampshire interscholastic league, by a score of 6 to 1. The tie game was played with Manchester high school, this game ending in the tenth inning with the score 3 to 3.

The sort of ball that the team has been playing is shown by the fact that the greatest number of runs scored against it in any one game was six. But 39 runs were scored against Portsmouth in the entire 31 games. The team was coached by William Brackett of Greenland, formerly captain of the New Hampshire College nine, and he deserves great credit for the fine showing of the team. The schedule arranged by Manager Harrington was the strongest ever played by a local high school team.

The record of the team for the year is as follows:
Portsmouth 14; Sanborn Seminary 3.
Portsmouth 12; Dummer Academy 5.
Portsmouth 4; Newburyport, Mass., 11, S. 3.
Portsmouth 3; Nashua H. S. 6.
Portsmouth 3; Manchester H. S. 3.
Portsmouth 4; Haverhill, Mass., 11, S. 0.
Portsmouth 11; Tilton Seminary 3.
Portsmouth 9; Portland, Me., High school 4.
Portsmouth 8; All Stars 5.
Portsmouth 6; Rochester H. S. 1.
Portsmouth 4; Dover High school 2.

SOME SINGER.

Lowell Man Has Passengers Spellbound in the Depot.

Hundreds of people in and about the Boston and Maine depot on Thursday night were treated to some excellent vocal music, seldom heard in the open air. The selections were given by a member of the Lowell, Mass., Commandery, K. T., while that organization was waiting for a special train to take them home. The singer in a rich baritone voice gave "Annie Laurie," "Rock of Ages," "An Revolt," and other old time songs. He had the numerous spectators spellbound, and it was remarked by many musical people in the crowd that they would like to have the pleasure of hearing him accompanied by an instrument. As a vocal artist he certainly had the goods.

FIRST VESSEL ARRIVES FROM WAR ZONE

The Freighter Carolyn Has American Flag Painted on Her Side.

The first vessel to arrive at this port from the war zone came up the river Thursday evening with the American flag flying from her masthead, and the American flag and her name painted on the ship's side. It was the American tramp freighter Carolyn of the Johnson line, hailing from Boston with a cargo of coal from Norfolk for the Boston and Maine railroad.

The Carolyn has a gross tonnage of 2341 tons, is 289 feet in length, 38 feet in breadth, and 19 feet in depth. She was built in 1899 at Whitby, England, and carries a crew of 41 men, mostly Spaniards.

The ship attracted large crowds of interested sightseers all day, and many went aboard and shook hands with the genial captain, Capt. W. C. Mitchell, who related the story of his experiences in the war zone, all of which was decidedly interesting.

Less than two weeks ago the ship came across the Atlantic and will after discharging the present cargo sail for Genoa, Italy.

A few weeks ago the Carolyn while enroute for Amsterdam stopped at Kirkwall, Shetland Islands, and while there her cargo of cotton was confiscated by a British prize crew and the ship taken to Leth, Scotland, where after the removal of the cargo it was allowed to leave. Captain Mitchell also told of the great inconvenience and trouble in getting in and out of a port of the belligerent nations.
